

HOTEL MAN FINED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Gentle, Arrested Several Weeks Ago, Is Fined $100 and Costs.

In the first sentence pronounced in municipal court here under the Mulberger law, Judge H. L. Maxfield late yesterday ordered Frank Gentle to pay a fine of $100 and costs, or a term of $100.48. The fine was paid. Gentle, who is proprietor of the Hotel London, was charged with having stored liquor in a safe in the establishment in violation of the law. Police went through the hotel bar-room on a Sunday afternoon several weeks ago and confiscated several quarts of liquor in the bar.

His attorney, Louis Avery, entered a plea of not guilty when first arraigned but changed his plea to one of guilty when the second of its kind in the local court. The first one, against William Canary, was a trial by jury in which the defendant was acquitted.

LOUD IN PRAISE OF LOCAL HOSPITAL

Praise for Mercy hospital was sounded today by Frank Horton, New York city, after a visit to the institution Thursday night. Mr. Horton came to Janesville to make a campaign to raise $75,000 to make up deficits caused by the reaction of the new addition to the building. "Your hospital is one of the most complete and up to date that I have seen in any city of the size of Janesville," he declared. "In fact, it is better than can be found in many large cities. The equipment is most modern and thorough and from what I saw of the methods in use, they are excellent."

CO-OP SOCIETY TO REFUND PAYMENTS

Racine, Feb. 18.—An agreement by mutual consent of the defendants in the case of the Co-operative Society of America, Inc., to refund the $100,000 paid by the persons to whom membership in the Co-operative Society of America, Inc., had been sold, offering to return the money paid in it as desired by the purchaser, marked the cases of the eight representatives of the society when they were called before County Commissioner Benson this morning.

LEGION SENDS TWO TO BIG CONVENTION

Post Commander Leigh J. McLaughlin and Executive Committee member W. Cunningham of the Janesville Post of the American Legion left today for Marshallfield to attend the state convention of post commanders and adjutants of the American Legion held there Saturday and Sunday. This meeting is expected to develop into one of the most important of the state organization's activities this year.

EXPECT 125 AT MERCHANTS' DINNER

One hundred and twenty-five covers will be laid for the Rotary Merchants' dinner to be held at the Y. M. C. A. on the evening of Washington's birthday, next Tuesday. It was announced by Louise Shies, manager of the affair, that the Chamber of Commerce, in addition to the Lakota orchestra, music will be furnished by Miss Georgia Langer and Mrs. J. Frank Murtland.

SES IMPROVEMENT COMING IN BUSINESS

Outlook for improved retail business conditions in the near future is good, according to R. J. Osborn, senior partner of Osborn & Duddington, this city. Just returned from a business trip to New York, Mr. Osborn said that a considerable amount of business is being done in the market. He left here today for Fond du Lac where he owns the Hills Brothers department store, one of the largest in that city.

DIAL MAKES PROTEST OF LANDIS' REMARKS ON OTTAWA BANK

Washington, Feb. 18.—Formal protest against Federal Judge Landis, of Chicago, for his remarks in the case of an Ottawa, Ill., bank clerk charged with embezzlement, is made in a letter sent to the department of justice today by Senator Dial, democrat, South Carolina.

TRIAL CONTINUED

Trial continued in Elkhorn today of the $1100 damage suit of Albert Grebe, Janesville, against Mark Watjeh, Whitewater. The result of an auto accident last summer. The case is being tried by a jury. A number of local men who were with Grebe at the time have been called to Elkhorn as witnesses.

NO DEVELOPMENTS

No trace has been found by police of the car stolen from T. H. Quinn, Sunday night, nor of the bicycle taken several days ago from St. Paul's school. The Quinn car was stolen once before. A coincidence, it is said, that the night before in Beloit, P. R. O'Neal was a victim of auto thieves the second time.

The Upward Trend

2 SHOE FACTORIES RESUME OPERATION.

Shoe factories of Foot, Schulte & Co. and C. Gotzian & Co. idle since the first of the year, resumed work today. Work will be provided for 2,000 employees at the two factories, according to representatives of the companies.—St. Paul Daily News.

DEMAND BECOMES FIRM IN NEW YORK DISTRICT

Particular significance is attached to the fact that business in general along the Row is nearly 100 per cent better than last October and November, and considerably better than December, and it is pointed out that in addition to this the "spot" business of January has settled down to a steady demand for cars day by day.—Motor World.

CLEVELAND SALES ALSO IMPROVING

Sales in the first week following the Cleveland automobile show far outstrip the best week's business during the months of December and January, according to retailers of passenger cars, who were canvassed.—Motor World.

ORDERS STILL FLOW IN FOR BUILDING MATERIALS

Manufacturers of several lines of building materials report that they are receiving a good many orders from out of town customers. The manufacturers are anxiously awaiting to see if this increase is merely a "flash in the pan" but it is the general belief that the market is hitting a stride which it will keep up for some months to come.—Chicago Journal of Commerce.

Youths Cause Increase in Crime; State Reform School Taxed to Limit

Six youths, all under 25 years of age, have been committed to the reformatory at Green Bay from Rock county in the last six weeks. This county is no exception for records and statements obtained from the reformatory show that more boys are being committed to the Green Bay institution for any other time during the last five years.

Crime has increased among young boys more than at any time previous. Unemployment is held to be one cause. In three instances the boys committed from Rock county courts have been pressed for money. They were "broke" out of work and without prospects of getting work.

Four for Car Stealing

Two cases sentenced here for car thefts, Hazen Rice and Russell Weirick being sentenced for stealing cars in Beloit. Before them, two Beloit negroes, Clay Hobson and Henry Boyd, went to Green Bay for arson. Last week Perry Hull and Joe Anderson were sentenced for stealing an automobile after breaking out from the Rock county jail. The fact that all six are young men is declared highly significant. It shows the criminal tendencies of youths. Ten years ago it was a sensation to find a criminal under 20 years of age. Nowadays the majority of criminals caught are boys, generally from 13 to 22 years of age.

Movies Are Blamed

The "movie" cause, the explanation of many of the authorities. Youths seeing crime filmed with its excitement and sensation sets the youthful imagination to thinking about the things they get away with. It is the next question the youth thinks about after being fed up on the larceny and bandit plots. They may not attempt the high-minded crime stunts formerly shown in the movies, but they do think of stealing an automobile, raiding a store, looking an automobile carelessly parked along a street. Police investigation of crimes in large cities shows that it is youths who dare to stage bank robberies.

CIRCULATE PAPERS FOR NOMINATIONS

Several in Field for Aldermen—Probability of Primary Is Seen.

With the spring election only 45 days distant, April 5, nomination papers for aldermanic candidates are beginning to make their appearance. In the first ward papers are out for D. J. Badger, present alderman, and Michael Raybor, tower man. There will be other candidates in this ward as well as a number in other wards, election prognosticators say.

Mayor T. E. Welsh and Henry C. Klein are so far the only out-and-out candidates for mayor although there is talk of at least one more. Whether or not there will be a primary this year is a conjecture. The law makes it unnecessary in a nonpartisan election unless there is a demand for it.

"If there are a lot of candidates in the field," said Mayor Welsh today, "I shall ask for a primary, although we have not had one for over two years in these elections. However, if Mr. Klein and myself are the only ones in the race for mayor I shall not ask for it although anyone else may be persuaded to make a run in the case of aldermanic contests with five or six in the race it might be more satisfactory to have a primary."

"Although I have heard talk of there being other candidates for mayor, I hardly believe there will be any one strong enough to beat out either Mr. Klein or myself," he said, "and the endorsement of the people for one more term but if I am defeated, I shall walk out of the city hall on April 17 probably a happier man than if re-elected."

Witness in Dakota Bank Case Held for Perjury

Bismarck, N. D., Feb. 18.—J. W. Brinton, formerly private secretary to A. C. Townley, president of the National Nonpartisan league, was arrested here today on a charge of perjury in connection with his testimony before the senate committee investigating the audit of the Bank of North Dakota. The warrant was issued on complaint of F. W. Cathro, director general of the Bank of North Dakota, who was charged in testimony by Brinton with embezzlement of the state bank's funds. Brinton was released on $1,000 for hearing February 21.

Railway Executives Discuss Wage Problems

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chicago, Feb. 18.—Members of the Association of Railway Executives assembled here today to hear a report from the association's labor committee on the proposal to arbitrate shop working agreements. For weeks the debate over the proposed arbitration was being waged before the railroad labor board. W. W. Atterburg, chairman of the labor committee, told the board in presenting the proposal that the railroad industry was in a desperate financial straits and that immediate action was necessary to prevent many roads from falling into critical financial difficulties. T. Dewitt Clavier, chairman of the association, said the delay of the railroad labor board in reaching a decision.

HOPE TO COMPLETE QUOTA BY TUESDAY

Y. W. C. A. Leaders See Success Ahead—Remodeling Contract Is Let.

Concessions in the Y. W. C. A. campaign for $12,000 hope to finish up their work and "go over the top" by Tuesday night. The remodeling of the building, including expenses of the proposed donations will help to complete the quota.

Willis & Deason, contractors, have been selected to remodel the third floor of the Y. W. C. A. building. The contract was let by the provisional committee at a meeting in library hall at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The constitutional committee was vested with power to draw up articles of incorporation. These will be adopted later.

The financial committee discussed details of the last big push, at a meeting held last night. Leaders request that those having pledge cards turn them in to headquarters at the Chamber of Commerce by Saturday night.

Women and girls may sign up now as members. "Membership not required but greatly desired," the announcement of the Y. W. C. A. committee, publicly directed for the central field of the Y. W. C. A. spent two hours in an informal meeting with members of the local publicity committee and inspected the proposed quarters with which she was greatly impressed.

Elkhorn.—The suit against the will of the late T. T. Greene of Walworth, was settled in court in Elkhorn recently. By the settlement Mrs. Bula Greene gets $5,000 which must be paid within 30 days. She also gets the rest of the T. T. Greene estate for six months. Mrs. Greene gets the balance of the estate, valued at $25,000.00.

ELECTRIC SURVEY TO BE MADE HERE

Utilities to Join in Steps to Cut Down Danger to Lives, Also Corrosion.

Looking high tension electric currents cutting loose from the rails of the Rockford & Interurban Railway and those of the Janesville Traction company have caused underground gas and water pipes in this city that a survey of conditions will be made. This action follows a meeting of local public utilities officials held in the office of Mayor Thomas D. Welsh, Thursday. The survey currents, it is said, also affect the ground wires of the Janesville Electric company, the Western Union and the Wisconsin and Rock County Telephone companies, and in some cases have the tendency of changing the direction of currents.

A better drainage system is planned by re-bonding the tracks as soon as possible, which means joining them together with heavier copper connectors to keep the currents in steady passage through the rails without seeping out by the attraction of underground pipes or cables. The utilities have agreed to make the matter a community proposition by merging their experts in the making the survey with the aid of the state railway commission.

The several utilities whose properties are affected by this electrified will make these survey jointly and submit the data to the railroad commission. An engineer from the Rockford & Interurban Railway will be the New Gas Light Co. and the municipal water plant in this process. The meeting, called by City Engineer C. V. Korch, decided that Engineer Korch will make an immediate investigation of conditions showing high potential differences between the underground structure and the rails in the vicinity of the Jackson street bridge. The investigation may be necessary to correct them and make temporary changes. A preliminary work to comprehensive survey, an examination of the joint resistance, the electrical system will be essential. It is understood that upon completion of re-bonding the tracks, the railroad commission will notify the utilities to make the final surveys.

Marinette Considers Buying Water Works

Marinette.—Advocating that the city of Marinette should purchase the water works, Alderman Fred Edwin said it would be the only way to cut water rates in this city. City Attorney L. M. Nelson was instructed by the council to take in touch with the Attorney General at the earliest moment in regard to the laws governing the purchase of water works from the individual owners. The plan, if made, will not necessitate the floating of another bond issue, in the city or increasing its bonded indebtedness. The money will be raised through the launching of bonds on the plant itself. Each year a certain amount of the capital investment will be paid off with the interest due on the bonds.

Paris to Have Mosque for Benefit of Mohammedans

Paris.—This city is soon to have its first mosque for the benefit of the Mohammedans in French possessions in Northern Africa—Algeria, Tunisia and Morocco. The people of those colonies have subscribed to a fund for the erection of the building and Algeria has nominated an Imam for leader. For the mosque, the city of Paris will present the grounds on which the mosque is to be built and the French parliament has appropriated 500,000 francs for construction purposes. Attached to the mosque will be a Mussulman institute.

No Rooms No. 13 in Hotels, Superstitious

St. Louis.—The ill-omen customarily associated with the number 13 is well recognized in the hotel business, a canvass of the leading hotels here indicates. In none there a room 13, and in one of the all numbers ending in 13 have been barred, as the result, it is said, of the superstition of patrons to occupy the quarters. Two establishment have gone further, and eliminated 13 from their business is concerned, of such an origin, that the cause has been lost sight of.

WISCONSIN TOBACCO MARKET.

The Wisconsin Tobacco Reporter says:

Edgerton, Feb. 18.—The Wisconsin Tobacco Reporter says: The northern valley sections are being combed for binders. The packers from the southern part of the state have been buying with those from Western and crops which had the promise of binder in it. The price last week followed the quality of the leaf, bringing from 16 to 25 cents. The war-crops which there are not hurrying deliveries, seeing to it that they are just fast enough to keep the assorting gauges busy. In Southern Wisconsin some rising is done, especially in Dane and Columbia counties. The buyers are picking the best crops to secure what holds out promise of a fair percentage of binders. The prices range, according to type of leaf, 15 to above 20 cents. In stemming goods nothing of importance has been reported in sales from first hand, but it has become known that several packers have disposed of their 1920 low grades as it has come out in the handling at sacrifice prices, 6 to 8 cents, to stemming concerns. The matter which just at present is of live interest in the Southern Wisconsin market is the effort of the Rock

County Tobacco Growers' association to organize a pool to handle the largest acreage so far attempted in this section. The matter of financing the handling and holding of some two million pounds of tobacco until it can be marketed at an advantageous figure has been gone into by representatives of the association. At a meeting held in Janesville last Saturday it was reported that satisfactory arrangements had been made between the association, committee and local banking concerns for the financing of the pool, but nothing definite has been given to the public, as another meeting of the growers was scheduled to be held Wednesday of this week. While it has been stated that other co-operative warehouses would open for the handling of tobacco still in the growers

CITY HOLDING ITS OWN IN INDUSTRY

Reports Show Conditions Worse in Other Places Than in Janesville.

Janesville is more than holding her own with other Wisconsin municipalities in solving the employment problem. There has been a slight increase in the number employed, while elsewhere there have been reductions. The shutdown of the Fairbanks-Morse plant is the most serious in the state. In event the firm keeps its doors closed for a long period, it is certain to work hardships on Beloit.

The Samson is still producing tractors at the rate of 15 a day. No men have been laid off at the machine shops. The production force has been kept at work. The force has not been reduced at the impulse meat plant nor have wages been reduced. It is stated. The Townsend tractor company is still employing the usual number.

Increase in March.

There is, however, no indication that the number of employees at either plant will be materially increased this month. Business interests here are hoping for a radical improvement in the industrial situation during March.

State reports show that the number of employees in Janesville fell off 10 per cent recently. The number dropped from 42,115 to 38,873 in January, this being the total employed, according to the state industrial commission's report.

The largest reductions reported during the last of January were men employed in the lead, zinc and iron mines of the state. Decreases are also noted in metal working industries and in wool plants. Tanneries, boots and shoe companies, hosiery and clothing companies report practically the same number employed in February as in the first of January. These industries show evidence of some recovery. There has not been any reduction of the workmen in any of the Janesville garment factories, nor is a reduction contemplated.

Picking Up in East.

National reports show there has been an increase in the industrial employment in eastern New England states. The measure of relief in the east, it is declared, will be followed by a revival of industrial pre-war conditions in the mid-west. The condition in southern states is declared to be acute. Textile mills have reopened and more clothing concerns have added to their force during the last two weeks.

In the Minneapolis district unemployment is increasing. The ship building in Duluth and Superior is at a standstill and the miners are not increasing their operations either in

STATE TO PRESERVE ITS BEAUTY SPOTS

Legislature to Act on Preserving Areas for Parks.

(By Associated Press.)

Madison.—Preservation of the natural beauty areas of Wisconsin, rapidly being encroached upon by the great cities, will be asked of the legislature. Moves are already under way to have the state establish parks in the northern lakes region of Price and Sawyer counties. The state of the Wisconsin river, at the Delta of the Wisconsin river, and in Rock county.

The most extensive park project to be given serious consideration is that of the northern lakes, with 8,500 acres of virgin timber, and 20 lakes of approximately 2,000 acres each. This is said to be the finest natural recreation area between the Adirondack and Yellowstone National parks.

STATE TO PRESERVE ITS BEAUTY SPOTS

Legislature to Act on Preserving Areas for Parks.

(By Associated Press.)

Madison.—Preservation of the natural beauty areas of Wisconsin, rapidly being encroached upon by the great cities, will be asked of the legislature. Moves are already under way to have the state establish parks in the northern lakes region of Price and Sawyer counties. The state of the Wisconsin river, at the Delta of the Wisconsin river, and in Rock county.

The most extensive park project to be given serious consideration is that of the northern lakes, with 8,500 acres of virgin timber, and 20 lakes of approximately 2,000 acres each. This is said to be the finest natural recreation area between the Adirondack and Yellowstone National parks.

Soil Lower to State.

Owners of the Northern Lakes park would ask $300,000 for the tract of timbered land, according to

MAY CHANGE SITE OF BAND STAND

Suggestion Made to Put It Directly in Back of Court House.

"There is no intent on the part of the city planning or any other official commission to put the new bandstand on a site where it is not wanted," said Ald. E. F. Kelly today in speaking of protests to the proposed site in the court house park near East street.

"Our sole idea is to put it where it will be of the most benefit to the greatest number. I must admit there are some grounds to the south of the city where it might be better. The committee had that under consideration. The benefits here would be in that it would be more easily accessible to the largest number of people. It could be built to face east on the court house hill forming a natural amphitheater. Our thought in having it at the upper end of the park was for use for summer picnics and fetes, and the extra parking space for cars.

"The objection to having it in the west end of the park is the congestion on South Main street when we have band concerts."

Mayor T. E. Welsh agreed with Alderman Kelly that a spot directly in back of the court house might be better.

"They can't blame any of this on the mayor," said Mr. Welsh, "for he has had no part in it other than assuring that $2,500 would be provided by the city for its erection."

ROADS AND MOTOR TRUCKS.
One of the problems confronting the legislature is the regulation of loads and licensing of trucks that travel country highways. It cannot be denied that heavy trucks have made it necessary to have solid surfaced roads if they stand up at all under traffic. It is agreed that for this service making the trucking business possible there should be a proper tax. Of course the persons paying the tax and the taxing power never do agree but it is possible to reach a basis that will be acceptable, pay for the damage done and at the same time follow the principles of equity.

The T. W. C. A. is nearly over the top. Give it the rest of the boost.

AN ENTERING WEDGE FOR STATE SOCIALISM.

A bill has been favorably reported by the state affairs committee of the assembly permitting the people to vote on the change in the constitution in order to give the state power to own terminals, elevators and go into other competitive business. There is no objection to the people voting on any measure, other than the cost. But we are at this moment being entertained by a tragic episode following an experiment in state socialism in North Dakota. That alone would seem to be powerful enough to deter any state from incidentally mentioning a possible acceptance of such a program. While the measure in the Wisconsin assembly is not fattered by a member of the nonpartisan league, it was introduced by a socialist from Milwaukee and should meet quick death in the assembly. North Dakota attempted to enter many kinds of business through state owned and managed competing institutions. It failed because there is neither the confidence of capital, large or small, nor the benefit to the farmer as promised. Also are needed to succeed. That sort of socialism is of the mongrel breed that gets nowhere except into bankruptcy.

North Dakota is a great and rich state but it is getting very tired of a number of political rumps in the scenario.

HIGH COST OF DOGS.

When C. P. Norgard, commissioner of markets, told the county supervisors in session at Madison that the dog ought to pay his own expenses, he made the strongest plea yet for retention of the dog license law. Thousands of dollars in damages have been paid to farmers from dog depredations. Where neither dog nor owner is found the fund is used to pay for damage.

"THEM YELLOW TICKETS."

Little things make and change history. "Arletta's pretty feet twinkling in the waters of the Arno made William the Norman, Conqueror of England" says Mr. Creasy. When the member of the assembly presented himself at the junior prom of the university with a nice yellow ticket he was told that the pastebored was worthless. This was a tragedy, a gasping, black, tragic moment. After he had loosened his celluloid collar to get his breath and the echoes of the merry but ironic laughter had faded away, the Assemblyman—a score or more of him—discovered that the ticket was for the prom of 1920. "Baf!" went dignity. The chief clerk was called on the carpet in open meeting. He had received the tickets from the manager of the prom. But that is not enough. The buck cannot be lightly or ruthlessly passed. We must have an investigation. Eventually when the appropriations come up for the university, the incident will not be forgotten. Can there be a more heinous crime in a place so deadly dull as Madison outside of the capitol, when a man has his appetite all whetted up to look upon beauty and youth and incidentally take a turn on the floor only to be stopped at the portal by a beardless youth with a hand, facing palm outward and saying in that splendid English so general at Madison: "That ain't no good; it's a phony. What ye tryin' to do; slip one over?" Investigation? Certainly, let's have one.

Many times in the past few months the Gazette has called attention to that plank in its platform relating to more parks and recreation places in the city. The time to obtain property, it would seem is to buy when it is at a low ebb. That is now. We wonder also, if there are not several public spirited citizens who want their property to do the most good for the city and are willing to donate it for park and plan purposes.

If the bachelors have to pay a tax as recommended by a bill in the legislature, there will be two results: one that the bachelor will agree that it is cheap at the price and a good investment and the other to boost marriages at Rockford, Waubesa and McMonie, Mich., and other border points.

We will all agree in this section of the state that the appointment of Judge Rosa to the office of tax commissioner is one of the best Mr. Blaine has made and the senate has done well in putting the seal of its favor on the act.

Giving Young Germany a Chance

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18.—Providing food for German students in universities and technical schools, so that they can continue their education and do their work in the reconstruction of their wrecked country is the latest activity of the American Friends Service Committee, which has been sending to the funds that generous Americans are sending to the stricken people who were here on such a short time ago.

The response to the plea of the Quakers for money to be used in Germany shows how quickly the war-time spirit of hatred is dying down in this country. Probably the bitterest anti-German will admit that the children and youths did not make the war and that they must be fed and educated if Germany is to be of any future use to civilization. The students in German universities today will be the Germany of tomorrow. They will be the government, the press, its educators. They will carry on the creative work in music, philosophy and science, in which Germany has been a world leader.

Many object that it is useless for Americans to pour food and money into Germany when it is being so much more rapidly drained out by reparations demands. This may be sound in a general way, but it does not diminish the importance of saving the German students from their immediate pressing want.

We have a detailed and exclusive report from Berlin, showing just how this work is done, and how badly it is needed.

At the close of the Christmas holidays 30 of the big universities of Germany were on the budget to receive this help. The authorized number of students to benefit by this additional food is now 20,000 and this number will be increased or decreased for the spring term in proportion to the support, financial and otherwise, which is forthcoming from England and America.

The total number of German university students today is about 123,000. The 20,000 selected from the entire student body have been chosen by the universities on the grounds of undernourishment or poverty. From a statistical survey made by student committees in all parts of the country it is shown that less than one-third are receiving an income from all sources of more than 300 marks a month (about four dollars at present rate of exchange). Obviously it is impossible to provide the bare necessities of life from this income. An adequate meal in a cheap restaurant can not be obtained for less than 15 or 20 marks and a room without heat or light will cost from 50 to 80 marks a month, at the cheapest. In addition the students' income must cover clothes, laundry, books and tuition. How many of the students exist at all is a mystery to the foreign visitor. In many universities, tuition fees are being remitted or postponed, but this cannot be a permanent arrangement.

In every university a committee composed of the rector or principal of the university, a physician and a member of the Deutsche Studenten-schaft, has been appointed to select the students who are to receive the Quaker meals. To facilitate their task a questionnaire is filled in by all students who wish to apply for this help. These papers are carefully checked. It can be seen by looking over some of the questionnaires that in spite of many students' untiring efforts to get work which will add to their incomes this work is difficult to find, and if found the remuneration is so slight and falls so far short of meeting the needs as to be hardly worth the effort. Employ-ment as tutor or in libraries or offices, which would be best for students, is the hardest to find and many young men must turn to manual labor.

A woman student who will take examinations this year for a doctor's degree works three hours a day as a charwoman in order that she may continue her studies.

K. S., a student of law at Frankfurt am Main lives at home with his mother and younger brother of 15. Not only is it impossible for his mother to give him an allowance but he must contribute to the household expenses from his earnings. His mother is not able to eat anything at midday as he has not time to go home and the meal served at the Students' Cafeteria was too expensive for him. He earns 250 marks a month by giving lessons and may be considered lucky to be able to earn that much. He suffers from chronic bronchitis.

A. B. is a student of political economy at Frankfurt. He is the son of a school teacher and has three sisters, 7, 15, and 21, none of whom is earning anything. As his home is elsewhere he must live in lodgings for which he pays 50 marks a month without heat and he gets his dinner at the university. The university has granted him an 80 per cent reduction of all fees. He has a monthly pension of 387 marks as a disabled soldier. A Red Cross cop leads him about for he is totally blind, has a piece of shell in his back and has lost one foot of the leg.

A young geological student at the University of Berlin, who was married during the war and now wishes to have two more years at the university in order to complete his course, works all night as a typesetter and is only able to have four hours sleep a day.

It is interesting to note the various kinds of outside work obtained or applied for by poor students. Aside from teaching and clerical work, which is always sought, students act as guards, they work in the coal mines during vacations, and some go into the farming districts to keep alive from one term to another. In Breslau there were 105 applicants among university students for work in a factory of which only 11 were fortunate enough to secure work. In another big machine factory 80 students from the Technical High school applied for work but not more than 10 were successful.

The cases cited are only average. Many of the young men are proud of doing extra work during the winter and the government pension they draw for disability is pitifully small. The women students, too, show the result of years of poor food and insufficient comforts. Yet they are a plucky set of young people and seem determined to go through with their university work. There are quite a few foreigners studying in all the schools—students from former German territory and from the new states of central Europe. They are financial position is doubly strained by the adverse exchange rates and because foreigners are subject to higher fees in all institutions. Many young men from Posen and East Prussian towns, which are now a part of Poland, have come to Germany to escape conscription and service in the Polish Army. Shelter from compulsory military service is indeed a new thing for Germany to offer.

DOING THINGS WORTH WHILE.
This is doing things worth while. Being cheerful, keeping true. Doing what you find to do. Planting roses at your gate. Meeting head-on and straight. Doing right when you can. To a troubled fellow-man.

You don't need the stamp of fame Or the lust for vain fame. To be truly useful, here: You can serve in any sphere. Be it high or humble post: Serving where you are needed most. You can always play the friend. Sincere and faithful to the end.

If the old red, white and blue Has a loyal and true friend, Find you faithful in the test. If within the home you keep There is little cause to weep. If you help the world to smile, You are doing things worth while. (Copyright, 1921, by Edgar A. Guest.)

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

A LITTLE SLICE OF LIFE.
We live at the foot of a hill Which is very steep, and even In dry weather it is tough To get down without landing On the back of one's neighbor. One other day the neighbor of ours Started down the hill and I Was being used by the kids For sliding purposes and was Slipped and fell along with them. I had been dressed with Soft soap. The man felt his way Carefully half way down and was Just congratulating himself When a small boy on it and hit him, And he flopped twice in the air And completed his way down to The foot of the hill on his Elbows and shoulders. I was Contained somebody who was Laughing at him. But His troubles were not over. The girl was then hit to bits And it was the one he had given His own kid for Christmas, and He had to walk up the hill And buy the kid another.

Who's Who Today

PRINCE ARTHUR OF CONNAUGHT.
The post of governor general of the Union of South Africa, to which he has been appointed, will bring new and untold duties to Prince Arthur of Connaught, but no doubt is felt in Great Britain that he will acquire himself to all the duties of the office. He has been assigned to him from time to time. As a side-decamp to the prince, who figured in recent years as a courier, very frequently representing the king on special occasions, he was appointed to the Duke of Fife in 1913, placed at his command a fine fortune and relieved him of concern for the future. Then he entered the royal household and gradually withdrew from outside activities.

When his father, the Duke of Devonshire, became governor general of Canada the prince accompanied him as aide-de-camp and while in that service he undertook a confidential mission to Japan, which brought him much credit. The prince had decided upon the army while he was at school at Eton. At that time the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha died and the prince, who had other successions in mind, decided to follow the Duke of Albany, then a schoolmaster, declared that he did not intend to go to Germany, as he was going into the army, and that Albany's marriage with Queen Victoria's daughter, the Duchess of Albany, was a great disappointment to the duke. Albany's demurral is said to have been quelled by a threat from the prince that he would give him a thrashing if he didn't do it, and thereby the question was widely printed as showing the prince's spirit.

Ventures in Common Sense

By ED. HOWE, of Atchison.

All men are said to adore actresses, wine and race horses. There are millions of worthy men in this country. I have never noticed the man who has one of them as a hundred times better than their reputations. Men untruthfully abuse each other, in their fierce fights in making a living, and women accept this abuse as truth.

The greatest humiliation in life, is to work hard on something from which you expect great appreciation, and then fail to get it.

When a real estate or oil stock agent appears, the average man will promptly discount the boomer's statements as much as they deserve; but let a political boomer appear, and the average man will accept his statements at face value. It is important that we know the truth in politics; a mistake may lead to greater disaster than a bad investment in real estate or oil stocks.

Feb. 18, 1881.—John Buob was badly injured yesterday afternoon. He was helping put up in the brewery and a large cake slipped and hit him on the hips. He felt better today, although he is still sore. Personal Health Service

LONG DISTANCE SITTING

Most of us who give exercise any thought at all decide to go to it for whatever it is worth, writes F. A. S. Jr., but almost the enthusiasm wanes and the patch goes in a some-what extended experience with exercise and games I venture the belief that the big trouble with "exercise," which, by the way, includes walking, is that there is no sort of economic way to stung one in a tender spot when one shirks the task.

But in play, continues our correspondent, "that is something else again." The fellow who has learned to play handball will think twice about passing up the usual hour of play. The volleyball enthusiast of 40 or so renews his mental bership something more regularly than the exercise fiend. The fellow who plays indoor baseball arranges his dates with his girl to give him the regular play hours to himself, and, by the way, that makes it easier after he has married to cop the same hours. I've tried it and I know. The tennis player—next to the golf bug—the tennis player takes precedence over all other lovers of the game.

So then, concludes F. A. S. Jr., exercise is rather a question of what sort of diversion or game can be relied upon to trick one into constant enthusiasm, to put spice and vim into a spiritless and winless life. Incidentally, to keep one in trim.

F. A. S. Jr., clearly points out a fundamental and physiological fact: If your daily exercise is not in itself a pleasure it does comparatively little good.

If long distance sitting tournaments were conducted regularly in this country and cups offered to the winner, such contests would no doubt capture all the championships in the all-seasons event. Probably no people in the world can compete with us in the sitting game.

Two miles of oxygen three times a day, on the hoof is a much better efficiency insurance and health preserver than any calisthenics or other room gymnastics or gymnasium work of which I know, not excepting, of course, the exercise system, which you may have for the inevitable stamped, self-addressed envelope. So is a daily game of tennis, basketball, indoor baseball, or handball. The only advantage room exercises have over these exercises is time. No man or woman can plead lack of time for a daily 15-minute session for the maintenance of physical efficiency, but many days it is impossible, for one reason or another, for one to get in the six miles of oxygen or a swim or a session with the gloves or what ever the play abhors may call for.

Q. I note frequently when bills are being voted on a senator or representative will say he is paired with mother, and consequently cannot vote. The pair, however, usually vote in the opposite party. Will you explain this procedure?
A. J. N.

Q. It is the duty of a member of the senate or house of representatives to attend congress as possible and vote on measures presented. Sometimes it is necessary for a member to be absent, and in this event he makes a written statement of his vote to the opposite party by which the vote of neither shall be taken, in this way striking a balance. This is called pairing.

Q. When does the astronomical day begin?
A. The astronomical day begins at noon, and the hours are numbered from one to 24.

Q. Who was known as the Founder of Peace?
A. This name was given to St. Benedict.

Q. Are there still cedars on Lebanon?
A. E. C. E.
Q. What are the cedars on the lofty mountain range in southern Syria, there still exist small groups of trees in several places, the largest consisting of about 350 trees.

Q. What is meant by Pandects?
A. N. B.

Q. "Pandects" is derived from the Greek and means "all-containing." The Pandects of Justinian is a collection of Roman civil law, made by the Emperor Justinian in 529 A. D., containing legal decisions or judgments, to which the emperor gave the force and authority of law. This compilation, of 50 books, is the most important of the body of the Roman civil law.

Q. What is a Dorking? C. C.
A. This is a long-established breed of domestic fowl, distinguished chiefly by the presence of a fifth toe on the hind leg. The breed is especially valuable for the table.

Save The Juices From Canned Foods

The entire contents of cans containing fruits and vegetables is placed there for use. It would be wasteful to throw away even the liquid. The mineral salts and other soluble substances which pass, before and after vegetables are packed, escape into the water while cooking, so that the flavor and nutritive value of the vegetable is impaired if the liquor is discarded. Cook the vegetable in its liquor, use the liquor for making the sauce or dressing, or if the vegetable is to be served in some way, use the liquor as a base for a soup, or a liquid for soups, sauces, or stews. Our Washington Information Bureau will forward a mailing of original recipes for serving canned foods more attractively to anyone who sends two cents in stamps for return postage.

A SWEETHEART AT THIRTY

The Story of a Woman's Transformation

BY MARION RUBINCAM

Chapter XXIV.
WHEN BUD CAME.
We were destined not to go on very much longer in our quiet and uneventful way of life. But for a few days before the storm.
"I don't understand why Bud does not come so much," Vi complained one evening. It was a little after midnight when she was alone in the little living room with its low shaded lamp, looking very warm and cozy.
There was a thought of course, that was always in her mind. It was that Bud might live or, or that he might find someone else more attractive. But she rarely spoke of this.
Tonight Toby Marchmont came in, and after Helen joined us. The four of us sat about the little antique table in the living room, playing a game of bridge. The game was a little more complicated than the one we had been playing when the bell rang late, it's 10 o'clock, he apologized. "But I saw lights in the window and risked it."
He gave Toby a not particularly friendly glance as we went on with our game. When it was over, Toby and Vi won the rubber, and Toby put his hand over the table to shake hands at their victory. He held Vi's hand an instant, looking at her with a happy, delighted little grin at that time. Toby was one of the most earnest souls in that part of the city.
Helen glanced from this little tableau to Bud with the most anxious expression. Then she looked at me to see whether I also had noticed it. Bud certainly looked gloomy enough; he looked as a matter of fact, tired to death, and the sight of Toby holding her hand, and even for a second, brought a scowl to his face.
"Shall we make some hot coffee?" he asked. "I'm all in."

Vi rose at once, always glad when she could do something to please Bud. But Helen had other plans.
"I'm going to suggest it," she announced. "I brought over some cold chicken from the restaurant, it's all out up. We'll have some chicken salad. Take a glass of wine, and make some dressing for salads."
So she maneuvered it so that Toby and Vi were alone in the kitchen. Bud, still displeased, lay down on the couch and made no pretense of talking with us.
He lingered after the others had left, and I excused myself and went into the bedroom, shutting the door. But part of their talk came to me even so, for the city was quiet and there was no sound in our house.
"Are you crazy over that chap?" I heard him ask.
"Why?" was all she asked.
"He's crazy about you. I don't wonder, there's half a dozen of them around here would be glad to have you if you didn't hold them ten miles off."
"I'm glad you do," he went on a little later. "Otherwise I might have no chance at all. Lord knows I'm not much, but at least I'm as good as they are."
"What do you mean?" Vi asked.
"I mean—oh, I'm crazy tonight. I mean I'm plain jealous of that Markham chap. But he wouldn't be much better than I. He's sober and pious, and all that sort of thing."
"Bud," Vi cried, and laughed about it. "You're just talking about it. What has got Toby's plucking quills to do with anything?"
"Well, they say that sort makes good husbands," Bud said, hesitating a little.
"I don't want—," Vi began.
"Vi, I'm crazy about you. It came out suddenly, like that, in the middle of her sentence. And though we all knew Bud was in love, we had not thought she knew it too, in spite of frequent doubts when Bud did not come for days at a time, still, when he said it, it left her a little breathless.
"Bud, dear," she began, her voice so low I could scarcely hear it. "There was all the pleading in the world in his tones—all the weakness and all the strength of a man.
"It was the irresistible plea. A woman may deny every other sort of love in a man, but she cannot resist that—"I need you." It appeals to her not only as a woman but as a mother, and in every woman the maternal instinct is strong. Vi did not want to resist.
"Bud, dear," I heard her say again, her voice a little tremulous.
And then there was a little silence, the sound of a chair being moved and silence again. But it was a quiet kind of victory.
Vi tried not to hear what they said, but in our tiny apartment it was almost impossible not to. I was in bed with this time, and I turned to the wall and pulled the covers over my ears. But even so I heard the girl's low, trembling little laugh, and the murmur of the boy's voice and occasionally a word of encouragement.
"Are you going to marry me?" he asked once.
"Do you think I could ever marry anyone else?" Vi answered gently.
So it was settled, definitely. I felt suddenly, as though a great calamity as well as a great joy had taken place. I knew well enough that Vi would never marry anyone else. She had been in love with Bud Pearson for several years, from their early days of the American woman. Many of the American women, many of the women always wear a veil because of the softening effect it has on the features which is perhaps more important than the protection it offers the complexion.
An effective veil adds the finishing touch to a charming costume, according to most American modistes and milliners. It has been said that not even the fashionable women of the Paris boulevards can adjust the veil with the telling effect and artful play of the American woman. Many women always wear a veil because of the softening effect it has on the features which is perhaps more important than the protection it offers the complexion.

Veils to Protect One's Beauty Important Millinery Accessory

By ELOISE.
The veils this season are important because of the fact that they often form the only trimming visible on the new hats. Small ribbon, satin, tulle and straws are being shown in soft shapes with rolling brims, and very often a flowing veil or a smart lace veil drapes is the only trimming. Here is one popular type showing a pleated chiffon ruffle of brown on a brown square much veil. A block design in white is an interesting type of the veil and it is a pretty brown ribbon hat of the same fitting variety.

Size—Body a little larger than robin. Wings spread make it look larger when in flight.
Plumage—General effect is black and dark brown spotted with white and buff. Conspicuous white hands on wings, throat and tail. Males. Upperparts, black which is irregularly spotted with white and buff. Wings marked by prominent white band. Tail, black with broken bars of white and buff and white band at end. Throat marked with broad white stripe. Chin and upper breast, black. Rest of underparts barred with black and white. Female. Similar to male but no white on tail, throat patch is buff and underparts are more or less washed with buff.
Habitat—Breeds from Yukon and central Canada south to northern parts of the United States and west to edge of plains from Minnesota to northern Texas. Winters in Argentina.
He is a winged terror to mosquitoes.

In fact Mosquito Hawk is much the more appropriate name for this first cousin to the mournful Whippoorwill. The common name of Nighthawk is a misnomer. He but rarely hunts at night and only then in the full of the moon, although late summer and early fall will find many of them gathering in the big cities where by the glare of electric lights, which turn night into day, they go swooping after moths, mosquitoes and other insects of the air.
Like the Whippoorwill, the Nighthawk never takes the trouble to build a nest. The two eggs are laid in a hollow on a rock or on the ground or in many instances right on the roof of houses in the city, where the hot summer sun does most of the incubating.
The Nighthawk has almost no voice, a little "peep" that comes floating down to us as he courses through the air being his only call note. He has a unique habit of mounting to a great height and with wings stretched out, swooping at great speed toward the earth, the passage of the air through the wing quills making a startlingly loud booming, rattling sound that has led to many superstitions being held about him by the Indians.
They are very communicative and generally hunt in little companies. After August, with family cares over,

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON.
Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

"A Mother": Take your trouble to the court of probate. In that way some arrangement may be made with your husband so that he will have to support you. At any rate you will be given assistance in placing your child in a secure work. There is no better course for you than to talk to the judge and see what can be done legally.

"Miss B. P.": (1) I think it was a mistake to apologize. Since you did, however, it is too late to "cry over spilt milk."
(2) Yes, it was all right to go with him after that.
(3) Go with him when he comes home if you want to. Some people detest letter writing.

"Primrose": (1) Wear your hair in a "high-tail."
(2) It was not running after the sick boy to send him a card.
(3) If you attend the party have your father call for you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I was married at the age of 18 and am the mother of a dear little baby six months old. I made a mistake in life when I married. I can't make miles from home to hide scandal, but somehow it has leaked out and my husband says if he people find it out he will go his way and I can go mine.
Do you think he would be doing right to me, his wife, and the baby by leaving us if his people find out? I have given up my home and my life for him. I'm a young girl has done, but of course when a lesson is learned it is too late. What shall I do if he does as he says he will?

WORRIED WIFE-MOTHER.
Your husband will lose the respect of his people instead of gaining it if he does leave you. But he is not more than a coward and it is after giving you this handicap, socially, he is too big a coward to stand by you he will be more dishonored than ever. Unless both of you live in the life of a beggar now on you will be more dishonored than ever.
Since your misfortune has become known, I believe it would be

What Shall I Do?
Answered by VIRGINIA PAGE.
"Dear Miss Page: There is a boy who is interested in me and asks me to go places with him. But he is not what I consider good. He is a swarthy fellow. What shall I do to cause him to lose interest in me?"—An Admirer.
The quickest way to make him lose interest in you is not to pay any attention to him. Very few boys are ever interested enough to withstand that. Just refuse to go to those places with him.
But if he is a good boy except for the swearing, why don't you get him to stop swearing? If he is very interested in you he will stop for you. Of course he can't stop all at once, and you must be patient and helpful and praise him a lot when he succeeds. But think how nice it will be to help him break the bad habit.

Why Care?
"Dear Miss Page: I am a young man, a student in the city. We have two classes at night. The first is in it proper to tell the same girl home both nights or would one night each week be sufficient? I have been out calling so often in a certain part of the city that the students and teachers have begun to recognize me. What shall I do?"—Denny.
Why worry about the conductors, Denny? They're probably calling somewhere on their night shift (or did before they were married) and you know every man in love has to be good-natured about a lot of teasing before he becomes a benefactor. As for the girls, that's different. It would be perfectly proper to take her home both nights if you like her well enough to want to, and she likes to have you. But don't forget that this may be construed by the young lady and your mutual friends as pretty constant devotion upon your part. And unless you are in love with her, you should make sure you don't lead her to suppose that you are.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Page in care of the "What Shall I Do?" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the questions.—The Editor.

FOOTVILLE

(By Gazette Correspondent.)

Footville—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barlow motored out from Jacksonville and were Sunday afternoon callers at the home of Mrs. M. M. Silverthorn. Their sister, Mrs. Mae Fuller, who was visiting at their home, accompanied them. Mrs. Dumond is recovering after a serious illness of two weeks' duration. Lulu Barryman delivered some blessed stock market deliver the property, recently purchased from James Murphy. They expect to locate here about March 1. Mrs. Laura Gooch spent the first of the week at the George and home in Jacksonville. Mr. Butts was a visitor at the home of Mrs. Thomas MacPherson spent Tuesday in Jacksonville. Mrs. William Gooch spent the day at the home of Mrs. Ruth Martin. Mrs. Brule Silverthorn boarded the early morning train for Milwaukee. Mrs. Mae Fuller reached town Wednesday, coming out from Jacksonville and was a caller at the Harry Barlow home. Friends of Walter Poynter will be glad to know and is able to be up and out of doors. Among those who went to Evansville to attend the funeral of Floyd Cain were Mrs. Mattie, Miss Ida Harper, Frank Pepper, Durland Owen, and Miles Clarke. Cain was a former resident of this village. Miss Viola Torpy has been confined to her home with a severe cold and abscess in the head. The "Live Wires" will play the Footville football team Friday evening. The game will be called at 8 o'clock. A preliminary game will be played at 7:30 o'clock. The game promises to be an interesting one and all are cordially invited to be present and witness it. A complimentary luncheon will be served at the Christian church Tuesday, Feb. 22, at 4:45 p.m. D. E. French, Milwaukee, will speak on "Constitution or Revolution. All are invited. This is given under the auspices of the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon League. The Letters of Tessie and Joe

DEAR JOE:
Say Joe, how would it be as a matter of thrift to take in a couple of desirable, dependable roomers and thus not only would I recuperate some of my expenses but I would for once have the feeling of being a landlord instead of suffering from one. I'd like to prove, that there can be good landlords as well as bad, and besides it would be a genuine luxury to have somebody to take revenge on for all the mean things our landlord has done to us.
I went ice skating yesterday to see if it would help me reduce any, but I spent so much time irresidually sitting down that the forcible rest I thus acquired at least equalled the exercise and maybe overequalled it. The same man kept picking me up all the time because he always just happened to be skating near when I fell, and after about an hour or two he seemed real worn out and discouraged.
On the way home I weighed myself and imagine my inner feelings when I found there was half a pound more of me than ever before, and it couldn't be the scale's fault Joe because that scale is always very flattering to me. Oh, well, why worry, here today and gone tomorrow. That don't apply to my weight though, because the motto of that seems to be "here today and more tomorrow."

Little Angel reminded me of the baby, because the little angel reminded at a standstill this week as far as weight is concerned, and I thought maybe he was getting a tooth at last because you know babies can only do one thing at a time, such as either have a tooth or take on weight, but not both, because of course you couldn't hardly expect the little imp to be up and all the time. Oh, well, why worry, here today and gone tomorrow. That don't apply to my weight though, because the motto of that seems to be "here today and more tomorrow."

was indeed a great surprise, as these most concerned had received no inkling of anything of the kind, and was planned and carried out by Mrs. Albert Behling and Mrs. Ole Engvall. A complimentary luncheon will be served at the Christian church Tuesday, Feb. 22, at 4:45 p.m. D. E. French, Milwaukee, will speak on "Constitution or Revolution. All are invited. This is given under the auspices of the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon League. A pleasant affair was that at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Wells and son, Stanley, when on Tuesday evening about 75 neighbors and friends met there for a farewell party for the family, who are soon to move to Orlinville to make that village their home. It was in the nature of a surprise, and

TANK CORPS WINS FROM ST. MARY'S; WILL ENTER MEET

Prepping for the national guard tournament to be held at March, Company 1, tank corps, of this city, Thursday night slugged roughshod over St. Mary's five at the armory, 43 to 24. Tonight the soldiers will take on the St. Paul Ruffs at the armory and Saturday night will handle the Shamrocks. Games start at 7:45. No admission is charged.

Ryder featured in Thursday's win, ringing 10 field goals. Hapel scored for the churchmen with seven baskets. Only one foul was called, a double, taking in Murray and H. Hapel.

Summary:
Tankers (45) St. Mary's (24)
Ryder, 10-10 Powers, 10-10
Hapel, 10-10 Ray, 10-10

BRINGING UP FATHER

Lead City in State Pin Meet

The Pin-Rites, now in first place in the City League, topped all Janesville teams in five-men at the State Bowling meet in Milwaukee two weeks ago, rolling 2554. They hit 865, 853 and 925. Richards is also a member but did not get in the picture.

"Tex" Lewis Wins First Cue Match; 3 Games Today

"Tex" Lewis took the first match in the Black Cat cue tournament here, winning from Francis Denning Thursday night, 100 to 88. Denning had a high run of 12. Joe Malone acted as referee.

Ten have entered the meet. This afternoon at 4:30, the second game will be played when Harry Schuler meets Charles Golder. Two matches will take place tonight, starting at 7 o'clock. William Scott will meet T. Bourdon and Vic Cushing will play J. Brown.

No games will be played Saturday or Sunday, the next of the series coming on Monday. The man showing the best average will be declared winner.

Badgers Threaten Illini Saturday

The big ten leaders, Illinois and Indiana, will be the center of attraction in conference basketball games tomorrow. The teams are tied for the lead.

The Indians will buck against some real competition, as the Badgers stage an invasion of Urbana, but the Hoosiers probably will have easy sailing at Evanston, where Northwestern will be met. Wisconsin is the team that married the Tailors here at New London. Next week the Badgers have the Chicago Boosters booked for Wednesday and the Chicago Big Five for Friday.

FAIRIES WIN EASILY FROM ISHPEMING, 37-22

Beloit Fairies took Ishpeming, Mich., into camp at Beloit Thursday night, 37-22. Tonight they play the Edison at New London. Next week the Fairies have the Chicago Boosters booked for Wednesday and the Chicago Big Five for Friday.

SPRING WEATHER'S DISASTROUS TO ICE

Marquette.—This delightful weather may be a decided boon for the local business men but it is proving disastrous for those engaged in lumbering and in ice harvesting, according to reports. It has been estimated that in the nearby lumber camps to-day the logs to the river by sleds but the snow and ice have been melting fast beneath the rays of the warm sun and now there is scarcely any snow or ice left which makes sledding impossible. Some seasons a second ice crop had been cut, but this year such will not be possible unless colder weather is soon forthcoming. This winter, with the exception of a few days, has been the mildest in years.

Green Bay to Try to Get Wisconsin Grain Show

Green Bay.—This city will try for the Wisconsin Grain show in 1922, according to J. N. Kavanaugh, county agricultural agent. He is seated that officers of the Wisconsin experiment association had promised to defer selection of a show city for next year for a month. Officers of the association will be in Green Bay soon to investigate the feasibility of bringing the show here.

Oxford Explorers Will Climb Spitzbergen Peaks

Oxford, Eng.—Oxford university is organizing an expedition to Spitzbergen to start early this year for the purpose of making geographical discoveries on several of the highest peaks which have not yet been climbed. The Evening Standard says the party will consist of six men who will make the journey inland from Wide Bay by means of sledges and ski.

Local Chess Men Lose to Beloit

First clash in the Janesville-Beloit chess tournament went to the Gateway city, four out of seven matches. The feature was the defeat of George R. McWay of this city by Dr. L. J. DeWarte of Beloit, two games out of three. The members of the teams were paired according to ability rank and the results of the tournament will drop the losers to one rank below. An increase in the number of players is expected for the next matches to be held next week.

William Koch, Janesville, defeated O. T. Thompson, Beloit, two games; C. P. Roscher, Janesville, won two.

Here and There, but Mostly Here

By FRANK SINCLAIR, Sporting Editor.

Boxing is rapidly developing into one of our most popular sports. During the World War this sport received the impetus that is carrying it into recognition in a score of states that have been most prominently opposed to boxing in any form. The reasons are plain and simple. Americans are beginning to appreciate more the wisdom and logic of that grand old warrior, Theodore Roosevelt, whose advocacy of swift straight thinking and hard hitting when the occasion demanded, was not accepted so readily by the majority for the simple reason that it "was over their heads."

The most radical Blue Law Reformer can find little to criticize in the boxing shows now being held in the Auditorium in Milwaukee. Smoky atmosphere, betting, noise and boisterousness which so often characterized the prize fights of earlier days, are conspicuously absent. Instead one finds oneself among a typical theatre attendance, and the fight, while in the minor, represents a goodly portion of the audience, and it may be noted, occupying the most advantageous seats. Society's recent approval and support of amateur exhibitions is patently an attempt to "get in the swim," but nevertheless well illustrates the trend of public opinion.

To the Wisconsin State Athletic Commission is due all the credit for the present status of boxing, and while such a fiasco as the Sailor Friedman-Charles White match at Kenosha several weeks ago might be taken as one reason why boxing and sparring exhibitions should not be patronized, it must be remembered that the prompt action taken by the Commission in the suspension of the fighters and the withholding of their guarantee, besides the disqualifying of one of the fighters, leaves nothing to be desired, and shows what is in store for those who do not play the same on the square.—C. L. R.

Staley Will Manage Staley Plants Athletics

Decatur, Ill., Feb. 18.—George Staley, former Illinois university star, has been named athletic director of the Staley concern. Joe McManis will manage the 1921 baseball team.

Philadelphia, Pa.—With the receipt of a signed contract from Clarence man, Beloit, won two from W. T. Gilbert, Janesville; and Dr. C. P. Clark, Janesville took two from V. J. Tucker, Beloit. The games were played at the Beloit Y. M. C. A.

MILTON SECONDS ARE EASY PREY FOR LOCAL STARS

Holding the Milton college seconds scoreless until the fourth quarter, Janesville All-Stars won their eighth straight game Thursday, 20 to 8. The Miltonites attempted a defensive effort, but were unable to stop the onslaughts of Bick, Hager and Fuellman. At half time the score stood 11 to 0 in favor of Janesville. In a belated rally near the end of the game, Skaggs of the seconds made three successive field goals and was followed with another by Hill, giving the Milton boys all of their points.

Saturday night the Stars will play the Madison Cardinals at the Y. M. C. A. here, the game starting at 8:30. Two church league games will form the preliminaries.

Summary:

All Stars (20)	Milton (8)
Fuellman, 2-000	Hill, 10-1000
Bick, 2-000	Arrett, 10-000
Bick, 2-000	Sullivan, 10-010
Hager, 2-000	Sayre, 10-000
Cullen, 10-000	Skaggs, 10-000

Leading Pro Skaters in Big Tourney Today

Lake Placid, N. Y., Feb. 18.—Virtually all leading professional ice skaters in the country, brought together for the first time in an event of this kind, will appear in the American professional speed skating and championships which open today.

SPORTING BRIEFS

Ann Arbor, Mich.—Fifty students answered the first baseball call at the University of Michigan.

The third annual interscholastic basketball tournament of the University of Chicago will be held in Bartlesville, March 10, 11 and 12. Teams from all sections of the United States will compete.

Walter H. Lippinger, Milwaukee, chairman of the Wisconsin boxing commission, will referee the annual indoor track and field games of the First Regiment, Chicago, Feb. 25 and 26.

Fond du Lac.—Twenty-five of the strongest teams of Wisconsin and nearby states have already signed up for the national basketball tournament to be held here beginning March 17.

Washington.—Leading professional and amateur golfers will play for the open championships of the United States here July 8-21.

National rifle matches will be held at Camp Perry, O., again this year, probably Aug. 27.

Cambridge, Mass.—One hundred and twenty candidates for the Harvard varsity crew have reported.

Washington, Pa.—Alexander B. Gray, a former Penn State football captain, died of spinal meningitis.

Local High Is Waiting for Beloit

Beloit high school has it all set that their team of basketball players is coming to Janesville Saturday afternoon, walk upon the high school floor and meander back to the Gateway city with a victory tucked under their wing. Perhaps, say the followers of the Blues, but if they do, so goes the saying, the Beloiters will do more limping on the return to their home precincts than meandering. Game is at the high school here, starting at 8:45 p. m.

Still nursing the stinging defeat meted out to them 20 to 5, by the Janesville lads at Beloit last Saturday, the boys from the southern town are confident upon the fact that Belmer and Conway, their star men, will be back in the line. At that, they will have to move fast, for so far as the rest of the Beloit team is concerned it played just week like a bunch of greenies.

Janesville is fighting hard for this game for much of the local championship depends upon the outcome. The result will also give an idea of possible switch Evansville next Tuesday.

Marten Fights Brennan Tonight

New York, Feb. 18.—Two more heavyweight contenders for the heavy-weight boxing title will exchange blows in Madison Square Garden tonight when Eli Brennan and Marten will take place tonight, starting at 7 o'clock. William Scott will meet T. Bourdon and Vic Cushing will play J. Brown.

No games will be played Saturday or Sunday, the next of the series coming on Monday. The man showing the best average will be declared winner.

BAUMANN TAKES SWIMMING HONORS

The Junior high school Y. M. C. A. gym class held an enthusiastic and closely contested aquatic meet yesterday afternoon. Baumann was easily the star taking first place in two events and second in three events.

TIME FOOTBALL GAMES BY PLAYS/SUGGESTION

Boston, Feb. 18.—To run football by plays instead of by the watch will be argued again before the football rules committee at its next meeting in New York next month to prevent a team in the lead from stalling.

POLICE GUARD LEWIS AFTER USING DEADLOCK

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 18.—Stranger Lewis threw John Fesek twice with the headlock and police had to guard his departure from the ring when the crowd became menacing.

At the State Capital

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
 Madison, Wis., Feb. 18.—Dogs are a big source of danger to both man and domestic animals and the continued license of them is highly important. Dr. A. S. Alexander, professor of veterinary science of the University of Wisconsin told the assembly state affairs committee while appearing against the proposed repeal of the law requiring the payment of dog taxes.

Hydrophobia, commonly called rabies, is one of the great dangers resulting from lax restrictions on dogs, Dr. Alexander stated. During a period of 17 years, Chicago treated 2,010 persons suffering from rabies received through attacks made by dogs. To other diseases that dogs can carry, Dr. Alexander claims.

Wisconsin could become a great sheep raising state if the licensing of dogs was properly executed, Dr. Alexander pointed out. Scotland was cited as a small country that raised over 6,000,000 sheep as compared to Wisconsin's 225,000 head.

Dr. Alexander made to raise only the best kinds of dogs through restriction.

"The law is a matter of restriction and prevents the dog from becoming both a nuisance and a danger," he stated. "It is not only sheep that are being attacked in this state, but dogs, cattle, and horses as well."

The southern half of Wisconsin county is now quarantined because of hydrophobia. It was stated by others appearing against the repeal of the licensing law. It was pointed out that dogs are the only animals that carry rabies and that it was highly necessary, therefore, to protect children as well as animals.

Assemblymen Stack and Cook appeared in favor of the repeal of the law, claiming that the $2 per dog tax was too high. The law is not effective, it was said, because there are so many having dogs who do not apply for a license and allow their dogs freedom with being persecuted for doing so.

Free school books can be furnished by municipalities at a saving of 50 per cent as compared to the price paid by individual purchasers, according to testimony before the assembly committee on education, which is considering a bill making optional free text book law mandatory.

The Johnson bill evoked bitter opposition from Milwaukee representatives, those led by Thomas A. Manning. Mr. Manning pictured Milwaukee as in a precarious financial condition, with millions of dollars of taxes remaining unpaid and expensive improvements initiated by various boards and commissions eating up a large part of the city's revenue.

School teachers, educators, labor leaders, and members of the state board of education, who appeared to speak in favor of the Johnson bill, declared the state should not stop after furnishing free school buildings, teachers, and janitorial service, but should complete free schools by providing the equipment needed by the pupils.

Secretary Fitzpatrick, of the state board, branded the idea that general use of text books might spread disease epidemics as a myth, and other speakers declared there was no more danger in free text books than in public libraries.

Wisconsin's legislature boasts one member in Assemblyman Luther M. Roseland, of Viroqua, representing Vernon county.

Mr. Roseland also holds the legislative record for varied activities. Besides being a Lutheran clergyman, he is mayor of his city and a lumberman.

Miles E. Hineman, Assemblyman from Tomah, is the dean of the lower house, according to ancient records which detail his first appearance at the state capital as a legislator back in 1887. After his initial venture into law-making, Mr. Hineman dropped out for a period of 29 years, coming back in the 1915 and 1919 sessions.

The assembly prohibition fight will open Saturday. Assemblyman Alexander J. Matheson, author of the dry enforcement bill and chairman of the committee on state affairs, announced tonight that Mr. Matheson submitted his committee's report, recommending indefinite postponement of his bill, to the assembly today and under the calendar, when the report is called up, the drys are confident they will be able to defeat it and move to send the bill to third reading.

Legislators who are finding it impossible to live on the salary allotted them by the state continue to devise means by which they expect to get around the constitution. The latest proposal declared unconstitutional by the attorney general's office would require county councils to vote their senators and assemblymen $500 expense money, in addition to their regular $100 salary.

Assemblyman Morgan held this proposed law, in a like manner with the one which would have permitted additional compensation for committee work, as not in conformity with the constitutional provision which states that the legislators may receive "no additional compensation either directly or indirectly, except for mileage."

Assemblyman W. J. Jordan, of Milwaukee, asked the opinion of the attorney general on his bill, which would have permitted county boards to help their representatives to meet their expenses while attempting to live on the state salary.

State examinations for barbers seeking licenses have been set by the state board of health for March 1 in Fond du Lac and March 2 in Green Bay, according to announcement today. About 50 candidates are listed to take the tests. The examination is intended principally for applicants from the Northwestern Wisconsin region and the Fox river valley section.

Wisconsin is especially fitted to apply the principles of the federal plan for rehabilitation of the industrially handicapped locally, because of its organized vocational training schools and the activity of the state industrial commission, a report of the state board of education presented to the governor today, brings out.

In making its report the board suggests that the Conant bill now before the legislature contains the essential features of a system for rehabilitation of the state's industrial handicapped and that it has been pointed out continually that the work is a state and national duty. The board declares that "Wisconsin should at the earliest possible moment undertake this most important social work."

Wisconsin is said to be especially well suited to cooperate with the national government in its rehabilitation program through its vocational schools located in 40 or more cities. According to the report of the board of education, not only the industrial schools but all other educational institutions and training schools would be made use of for the supervision of the handicapped under the supervision of the state board of vocational education.

A crime was put on two Czechoslovak bills when the senate committee on state affairs reported them out for indefinite postponement. One bill would have started a two-shift system for the Milwaukee fire department, giving firemen 24 hours rest in each 48, with a 15-day vacation each year, and another related to licensing of licensed pilots and pilots of the Milwaukee fire department.

Final consideration on the bill to provide for rehabilitation of the industrially handicapped was laid over, because of differences that rose in committee in deciding on methods of applying the act. Sentiment of the committee on education in favor of a rehabilitation law, but it could not arrive at an agreement on the source of funds for application of the act.

With 41 bills up for consideration, the assembly state affairs committee was able to consider only two of them before adjournment. No action was taken on any measure. Assemblyman Pfeiffer's resolution memorializing congress to enact legislation to take authority from the federal power commission to license water power and irrigation companies in national parks, although scheduled was not considered.

The senate state affairs committee recommended the resolution of Assemblyman Perry creating a joint committee to investigate fish and game laws at Oshkosh, for killing. It has already been favorably acted on by the lower house. Following the rule of Chairman Toth for summary action in dealing with measures that are not considered essential, three out of four bills taken up were reported out for indefinite postponement.

The Matheson bill to amend the educational bonus law was recommended for passage, but amended so that the present application of the law applies only to boys who saw more than 30 days service stands. As amended the bill extends the bonus law to Wisconsin boys who served in the allied armies and to boys who are enlisted prior to November 12, 1918, instead of November 1, as in the present law.

A proposal by Assemblyman Eric Johnson for the state to pay delegates to party platform conventions $2 a day for each day's attendance and 10 cents a mile for traveling expenses to and from the conventions and to the death in the assembly elections committee. Mr. Johnson proposed the secretary of state should pay the convention bills out of the fund for compensation of members of the legislature.

Bills to make it a crime to blackmail state commissioners, judges, administrative and legislative officials or plaintiffs in personal injury actions by threatening to expose immoral relations in their past, and a bill to prevent the employment of spies to join labor unions and reveal their activities are being prepared for introduction in the legislature by Assemblyman Lucas, of Milwaukee.

The dry forces in the legislature last night prepared a reserve measure to be brought to the front should they meet defeat in the assembly on Saturday when the Matheson bill is reported from committee, recommended for indefinite postponement.

Senator Olson prepared the reinforcement bill, which will duplicate the Matheson proposal for strengthening the Mullerberg enforcement law, and brought it into the upper house just before the time limit for introduction of bills from the floor was ended. His bill will be quickly in waiting throughout the session, unless assembly action on the Matheson measure is altered, in which case it will be brought out for action.

Repeal of the eugenic sections of the marriage law is advocated in a bill introduced in the assembly last night by Mr. Pfeiffer, of Green Bay. His measure would revoke all requirements for the physical examination of male applicants for marriage licenses and for the refusal of licenses to men suffering from social diseases.

Assemblyman Fowler introduced a bill providing a penalty for the unauthorized wearing of war insignia, and another to create a state department bureau at the penitentiary.

An anti-race antagonism bill, modeled along the lines of a similar measure in Virginia, was presented by Assemblyman Higgins at the request of colored residents of Milwaukee. It would forbid the showing of any picture or theatrical act tending to arouse feeling between the races.

A bill by Assemblyman Lucas is designed to make the owner of an automobile responsible for personal or property damage inflicted by it while being driven by another person with the owner's consent.

Sweat shop labor in Wisconsin is hit in a bill of Senator Haber. He would require that all employers who employ home workers secure a permit from the state industrial commission, after a license has been obtained from the local health officer. Issuance of a license would be dependent upon the result of an investigation and upon the payment of a fee. Examination of the premises and payment of the license fee would be made annually. Further provision is made that employers would have to keep a complete register of the nature of work done by their home employees. Failure to comply with its provisions would result in revocation of the license and fine of not more than $100 for each offense.

Senator Hirsch introduced a measure requiring compulsory school attendance for adults who are found to be unable to read, write, or speak the English language intelligently. After examination before local vocational authorities, the person would have to attend school eight hours each week until able to use the English language satisfactorily. Instruction would be on the employer's time.

State aid would be extended to blind residents of the state under provisions of a bill introduced by Senator Conant. His measure would extend not more than $1,000 in benefits to adult blind persons yearly, providing they have no other source of income. Earnings of the blind person would be deducted from the $1,000.
